ABOUT THIS SESSION

Prevention begins with strengthening families. This session explores how coordinated efforts between housing support, food security, parenting education, and economic stability programs contribute to protective environments. Participants will gain tools to reduce stigma when offering services, learn how to assess family needs holistically, and design collaborative responses that meet families where they are.

This webinar series equips professionals, child welfare advocates, and community members with the knowledge and collaborative strategies needed to protect children, support families, and prevent child abuse and neglect.
